

Who can join?

You can become a Resolution member if you support the Code of Practice and work in family law, the family justice system or with separating or separated families.

Resolution members are family solicitors, legal executives, mediators, collaborative practitioners, paralegals, family law assistants, arbitrators, barristers, judges, family therapists, family consultants, financial advisers, law lecturers and anyone with an interest in family law or family justice.

Anyone studying towards a career in family law, or a family justice related role can apply for student membership and enjoy their first year at no cost. If you're a trainee, or taking a career break you can take advantage of membership at a significantly reduced rate.

How can I join?

Joining Resolution is simple - you can download an application form from our website www.resolution.org.uk/howtojoin.

Once you've completed the form you can return it to us, and we'll do the rest. You can pay by direct debit or cheque if you prefer.

"If you're a financial adviser working closely with family law practitioners, you'll gain many benefits from being a part of the Resolution community. Resolution's accreditation was one of the most difficult things I've ever done, and I'm really proud of it. I'm a better adviser as a result of it, and it demonstrates my commitment to Resolution's Code of Practice."

Why you should join Resolution

As a family law professional, joining Resolution gives you access to a wide range of benefits to help your business and develop your career. Membership connects you to over 6,500 of your peers and shows the public you sign up to a Code of Practice.

- Exclusive online members' area and regular e-bulletins featuring up to the minute information and support.
- Guides to Good Practice and guidance notes available exclusively for members.
- Your copy of the highly-acclaimed member journal The Review, written by members for members, delivered six times a year and packed with the latest news and information to keep you up to date.
- Exclusive discounts on a loan product to help low to middle income clients fund their proceedings.

"Joining Resolution is, in my opinion, the best way of demonstrating to others your commitment to a constructive, conciliatory approach to family matters while being part of a support network which provides an essential part of maintaining that vision."
Andrew Greensmith,
District Judge of the Family Court
